APPLICATION TIPS

Consider these helpful tips while filling out this application:

- An application that is strong and well-written is appealing to the judging committee.
- Be crisp, clear and concise so the judges reading your application immediately understand what industry the nominated business is in and what products or services they provide.
- Bragging is encouraged, this is your opportunity to share with the judging committee of all the accomplishments and successes of the nominated business and ultimately why they deserve to win this award.
- Tell a story with your application. Nominees who have an interesting, well-told and engaging story of business history, accomplishments and innovativeness have an advantage over nominees who cannot communicate important business awards and/or milestones.
- Remember to show measurable results of growth. Prove your claims as specifically as possible.
- Consider attaching relevant documents such as newspaper clippings, client testimonials and/or pictures that reflect the health of the nominated business. Limit of five additional documents.
- Any financials submitted can be sent directly to Dianna Kindseth at Brady, Martz & Associates and will be kept completely confidential.
- Lastly, understand how the nominated business will be evaluated. Applications will be judged by the Small Business Awards Subcommittee on a confidential basis. The judging committee takes into consideration business stability or growth, innovation and creativity, awards and achievements, community leadership and involvement. Be sure to emphasize these throughout the application.
