Granville Exempted Village School District

Jeff Brown,
*Superintendent
Granville Exempted
Village School District*

Granville’s class of 2014 was the largest graduating class in the history of the district. The world is a much different place than it was when they first stepped into their kindergarten classes in 2001. This class of graduates is leaving Granville more prepared than ever to succeed beyond the walls of the classroom.

Teachers, administrators, parents and community members have all played a part in educating these students. With the passage of the fall levy, the district is able to continue to employ high-quality teachers who challenge students to achieve. The result of their efforts will be realized when our graduates go on to become future leaders, doctors, engineers, mathematicians, architects, fashion designers, engine mechanics, cosmetologists, artists, dancers, educators and more. The variety of chosen professions speaks to the importance of an education focused on the whole child.

The community’s support, demonstrated by the passage of the permanent improvement levy this year, is a testament to the importance of providing infrastructure and investment for future generations of students. The funds will enable the district to keep curriculum current by providing the financial means to purchase up-to-date textbooks and new technologies which will give students the tools and content necessary to compete in today’s society.

At a recent Chamber event, Dan Evers from GROW Licking County discussed the need for economic development. The strength of our district and the success of our students is a main reason new residents cite in their decision to move into the area. Highly rated school districts, like ours, help position communities to attract viable businesses that can strengthen economic growth. By working together, we can provide sustainability for the schools and community.

The Works® Receives Grant from Martha Holden Jennings Foundation in Support of Camp Invention® & School Tours

The Works: Ohio Center for History, Art & Technology was recently awarded a $12,150 grant from the Martha Holden Jennings Foundation for support of the 2014 Camp Invention® summer camp and fourth grade programs during the 2014–15 school year.

Martha Holden Jennings Foundation funding will support “Deeper Learning: Powered by The Works,” a series of programs designed to provide STEM learning opportunities for fourth grade students in the Newark City School District. The programs focus on an “Energy and Electricity” theme.

This summer, “Morphed,” a Camp Invention® program for students ages 8–11, will feature hands-on activities, brainstorming, experimentation, and action. Camp Invention campers will build original prototypes, create personalized electric-powered vehicles, and analyze their inventions in teams. In the fall, The Works will present the electrifying “That’s Shocking” program at assemblies at Newark City Schools. The program also features the hands-on “Energy and Electricity” program for fourth graders at The Works museum, and the “Watts Up?” program in fourth grade classrooms throughout Newark. “Deeper Learning: Powered by The Works” will culminate with a fun family night at The Works in April 2015, when fourth grade students will display their final projects. The Works is a member of the GACC.

About the Martha Holden Jennings Foundation:

Based in Cleveland, The Martha Holden Jennings Foundation funds the efforts and ideas of classroom teachers, school administrators, school districts, and tax-exempt organizations that assist secular primary and secondary schools in Ohio. The Foundation’s grants touch the lives of thousands of students through unique projects in all curriculum areas.

About The Works: Ohio Center for History, Art & Technology:

The Works is an interactive learning center where people of all ages can have fun and be inspired by the history, technology and artistic accomplishments of the community we serve. The Works is located at 55 S. First Street, Newark, Ohio 43055. Visit us on the web at: attheworks.org.

GACC’s Farmers Market Sign Missing

One of the Farmers Market Signs has been reported stolen. The missing sign had been set up on the Northeast corner of Broadway and Main Street, near where the Farmers Market is held.

The GACC is hoping this is a prank and that the sign will be returned to the same location in good condition. Should this happen, no questions will be asked, and the Chamber, Market Master, and visitors to the Farmers Market will be very appreciative.

Goumas Confections Mentioned in National e-Magazine

The April/May 2014 edition of The Gourmet Retailer contains an article on trends in chocolate and healthy indulgences. Goumas Confections’ co-owner, Kris Goumas, was quoted explaining what their top-selling candies include. Their Sea Salt Caramels, in dark and milk chocolate varieties, have been a top seller for the past five years. For the full article and more information, please visit <http://www.gourmetretailer.com/article-the-sweet-lowdown-6848.html>. Goumas Confections owns two local confectionaries, one in Granville and one in Newark. They are a member of the GACC. The Gourmet Retailer Magazine has been serving retailers in the specialty food and housewares industries for over thirty years.

Sea Salt Caramels, in dark and milk chocolate varieties, have been a top seller at Goumas Confections for five years.

$1.00 Per Day Makes Quite an Impression!

GACC is using a TV in the office window to keep current with announcements without taping posters on the windows. Chamber staff have been posting a variety of information about Granville, from events to historical photos to announcements, and eye-catching videos and advertisements.

GACC member businesses can post advertisements which run every few minutes, all day long, for only $1.00 per day! Organizations are asked to provide a digital image of their events, along with date, time, place, and contact information. It’s just one more way to highlight and showcase our community. Stop by and take a look for yourself! For more information, call the office at 740-587-4490.

MEETING ACCOMMODATIONS

Does your business have a room large enough to accommodate the Chamber’s monthly meetings? If so, please call the Chamber office at 587-4490. We need to be able to seat up to 65 people.

OFF-BROADWAY SPOTLIGHT

MICKEY'S ROOFING

Mickey's Roofing has been providing roofing, repairs and gutter services since 1980. We built our reputation on honesty, integrity and customer service.

Using the best quality materials available, our roofing crew installs shingles, metal and rubber. Most new installations come with a limited lifetime product warranty. A 10 year workmanship warranty is made possible by a crew with nearly 25 years of combined roofing experience.

Our repair crew will find and repair problems associated with roofing. No roofing project is too small for us. We are famous for fixing those leaks that seem unstoppable.

Our gutter crew offers 20 different color selections for seamless aluminum gutter. For the fancier taste we also do copper, and install half round gutters.
