A MESSAGE FROM YOUR PRESIDENT

Dear Chamber Members,

By the time you read this we will be into the fourth quarter of 2010. Where has the year gone? By being an active Chamber member, there are many ways that you can count where the majority of 2010 went. To date we have had the Annual Celebration, the Golf Outing, nine Business Social Hours, ten Ribbon Cuttings/Open Houses, nine Get Moving Middleton breakfasts, three Special Events—Sports Night at Keva, GNF Info Booth and the CEO Roundtable—eight Ask The Expert sessions, and numerous committee meetings. Looking back on this list, if you have not been as involved as you would like there is still time and many opportunities available, to reach your 2010 goals.

Two years ago, at the Chamber Board of Directors retreat, we developed what is referred to as the Four Pillars of the Chamber – Facilitate, Advocate, Communicate and Educate. These pillars define what the Chamber’s role is for you, the members. For every event, committee, and request we receive, we ask ourselves, “Does it fit within one of our pillars?” All of our programs have been aligned with one or more of the pillars. At this year’s retreat, the Board of Directors set SMART goals for each of these areas. Throughout the year, the Board and many of the members have worked towards achieving these goals.

At this time of year, it is great to readdress the goals we’ve set for 2010 and see what we have excelled at and what we have left to accomplish. I am extremely proud to be the Middleton Chamber President and to share with you all that this year’s Board of Directors has accomplished, with the help of committee chairs and committee volunteers. In these hard economic times, they all have helped to provide the membership with opportunities to achieve goals for 2010 and, more critically, survive and thrive.

As we reflect on all the activities that have occurred this year, the opportunities have been outstanding and very plentiful. Please make sure to utilize your Chamber membership to help achieve your goals.

Life can only be understood backwards….but it must be lived forwards.

Sincerely,

Tammy

How Did You Get From There To Here?
Profiles on the Vocational Journey

Interview by Dietrich Gruen

Dietrich is the former director of Middleton Outreach Ministry, a volunteer chaplain with Capital Chaplains LLC and columnist for the Middleton Times-Tribune.

CAROL MAKI

Executive Vice President of Retail Banking at Middleton Community Bank

How long have you been a Chamber member?
I’ve been a member for 29 years—representing M & I for 14 years and now Middleton Community Bank for 15 years, since its inception.

What path led you to your current position?
When I graduated from college, I was headed into nursing. I was holding down part-time restaurant and retail jobs, but needed something more financially stable than nursing, to support the family. So, for my first full-time regular job, I went into banking and never looked back. I began as a teller, and someday I want to be a bank president.

What factors confirmed that you were on the right professional path, working in this field?
I had mentors who took me under their wing, trained me to take on leadership roles, modeled for me what it means to excel. They first had to pry me away from the teller line, though, because I love direct customer contact. Along the way I took classes through the Wisconsin Bankers Association, in things like commercial lending, retail, insurance products, and other financial services. I may still get a graduate degree through them.

How has your business, and you personally, been impacted by this current economy?
It’s been a challenge. Under new federal guidelines, there’s more paper work and compliance issues regarding all the changes. As a community bank, we’ve managed to stay close to the customer and help with mortgages, even in a tight lending market. With better-educated customers and better-educated employees, we are a stronger lender—helping more people get into and hold onto their homes.

What does it take (for you) to be a success in your field?
My customers and the staff I supervise—they make me want to be a better banker and a better person, every day. I know I have succeeded when they leave here feeling more confident, secure, and trusting about their financial situation. To be a good banker, you have to earn your customer’s trust.

What advice would you have for people who are considering a career in banking?
Try it, see if you like it. Here we take in co-op students from the high school. Many return to us as part-time employees during college or during the holidays. They see that a “banking” career involves various jobs—direct sales, accounting, mortgage lending, processing, administration, marketing. Along the way, they ask themselves, “Do I like this, or that?”

Why do you think it is good business for someone like yourself, or a business, to engage the community in “doing good”, outside of work?
“Community” is in our name, so all employees are involved, mostly on their own time, but also on company release time. Our employees volunteer at MOM’s food pantry, in social service organizations, in PTA or after-school clubs, in literacy or tutoring programs, United Way Days of Caring, Chamber committees, in churches, and more. Our 42 employees donated 2647 hours last year.

What might fellow chamber members be surprised to learn about you?
I was so active in Chamber leadership at one point—even served as Chamber president during its 50th Anniversary year, Good Neighbor Fest chair and the like. Yet I’ve been gone for a while, so people might be surprised to learn I actually miss it. But I had to step back, let new people and new ideas take hold.

What do you think you’d be doing professionally if you weren’t in banking?
I’ll be a lifer. But if not in banking, then I’d like to work for a nonprofit helping others—and get paid!

From the Idea to the Alliance: Twenty Years of Moving Health Care Forward. Twenty years ago, seven Madison-area employers gathered to find a solution that gave them more control over escalating health benefit costs. From their beginning, Alliance members have often led the way, adopting concepts and ideas in health care--how healthcare is purchased, network coverage, providing resources--before they became widely accepted. Alliance meetings and Alliance Learning Circles bring members and business partners together to network with colleagues to share ideas and best practices. Today, more than 160 organizations call themselves members. For more information visit www.the-alliance.org
Summit Credit Union ‘Pay’s It Forward. The second annual ‘Pay It Forward’ grass-roots charity effort came to a close on September 15th, after 670 community members were asked, “If we gave you $10, what would you do for someone else?” Nearly $18,000 has poured into the community through Summit’s Pay It Forward initiative since its inception in 2009, with its reach far and wide — from non-profit organizations and schools to neighbors and strangers. Since last year, more than 120 non-profit organizations throughout the world benefitted from participants’ pledges.

Greater Madison Area Society for Human Resource Management Releases Its 2010 Benefits Survey. The Greater Madison Area SHRM conducts the comprehensive survey of Madison area businesses every two years. The Survey provides data on how Dane County employers are building and customizing their benefit packages. Survey questions cover wellness and reward programs, PTO programs, and traditional benefits such as medical and dental.

Findings for 2010:
• 21% of the total payroll cost is spent on employee benefits
• Domestic partner coverage increased 8.5% from 2008 (32.1%) to 2010 (40.6%).
• High deductible plan offerings have increased 8.2% from 2008 (19.2%) to 2010 (27.4%).

GMA SHRM collected the data between May and July of 2010. The results were compiled from survey questions developed by enetrix, a Gallup company, and distributed to companies in all business classifications. Businesses and organizations interested in purchasing the survey may do so by visiting www.gmasshrm.org.
