The cities of Scottsbluff, Gering and Terrytown are home to a dynamic range of telecommunications providers. These companies include landline telephone carriers, cell carriers and several internet service providers offering cable, DSL and wireless broadband solutions.

Mass media communication services blanket the area. The Star-Herald is a local daily newspaper. There are three weekly papers - a business farmer, the Gering Citizen and the Gering Courier.

KOTA TV provides ABC. KSTF provides CBS and CW. NBC Nebraska provides local news. Program streams are owned by Gray TV and are marketed at the downtown location in Scottsbluff.

Action Communications has been a trusted, locally owned and operated internet company for over 30 years. Their service and in-house support stands out above the rest, with the latest and most advanced technology. We give our customers consistent, reliable service both in town and in rural areas across the Nebraska Panhandle and Eastern Wyoming. We also offer Two-way Radios and Dish Network TV.

Allo Communications provides fiber optic Internet, television, and telephone service to Nebraskans across the state since 2002. They are the only provider in the area offering a dedicated fiber connection to households and businesses enabling greater speeds, clarity, security, and reliability. The wide range of service options include: internet speeds ranging from 20 Mbps up to 1 Gigabit, customizable TV packages including a free streaming service, and free phone features including unlimited long distance, caller ID, call waiting, and much more.

CenturyLink serves access lines with an all-digital network featuring over 500 miles of fiber optic cable. They provide business and wholesale customers with a broad offering of integrated local services and product support including: Voice lines, DSL, ISDN-BRI, frame relay, ATM, dedicated internet access, integrated TI, MPLS VPN, managed network services, conferencing services, key and PBX trunks, ISDN-PRI, and Centrex. CenturyLink also provides home phone packages, high-speed internet and Satellite TV.

Charter Communications provides cable television, internet and phone service for the area through advanced broadband communication. They offer a full array of cable services from Digital/High Definition TV, DVR and Pay-Per-View to High-Speed Internet.

Mobius Communications provides telecom services. The company's services include Business Phone Systems, networking, security solutions, long distance, dial-up and high-speed Internet, DIRECTV and satellite radio.

Vistabeam (<http://www.vistabeam.com>) provides wireless high speed internet and VOIP services to Western Nebraska, Eastern Wyoming and Northeastern Colorado. Vistabeam also offers dedicated commercial broadband connectivity with microwave or fiber along with specialized wireless network design and wiring services.

Inventive Media (<http://www.inventivemedia.net>) provides personal and business web hosting, wireless deployment consulting and operates the WISP Directory of Wireless Internet providers in the United States.

Satellite dealers with several channel packages also serve the Panhandle.
