Beat the Fall rush for Septic Inspections

Does my septic system need a repair?

Do you know of any of the following items needing our attention?

- * Junction box and post
- * Lift pump
- * Alarm
- * Broken or cracked lids

Steinbrecher Companies can easily fix these components right up for you before our fall rush, and before everything eventually freezes again here in Minnesota.

Buying or selling a home?

Counties usually require compliance inspections if you request building permits or transfer property. Mortgage companies require this prior to lending money. Since 1996, Minnesota has had a state septic code in place to protect our ground and surface waters from contamination from inadequate and malfunctioning septic systems. These codes are implemented by the Minnesota Pollution Control Agency (MPCA) as well as local units of government such as counties, townships and municipalities.

So, what is a septic compliance inspection?

A septic compliance is a report on how a septic system is functioning. When conducting these inspections, Steinbrecher Companies thoroughly researches the existing septic system. We examine the tank(s) for cracks and/or leaks, make sure all baffles are in place, and we do a soil boring next to the treatment area to verify elevation of the limiting layer. All tanks need to be water tight and need to meet current MPCA codes to pass a septic compliance.

If a septic compliance does fail, Steinbrecher Companies, Inc. can design, install, repair or do maintenance to make the septic system work correctly. Steinbrecher Companies Inc is also Minnesota's representative of Orenco advanced septic systems, so we can offer you more options. We are your one stop shop!

Upon completion of our site evaluation, you will receive a copy of the septic compliance that states whether it passed or failed. The compliance also lets you know what condition of the septic is in, and the functionability of it. Feel free to ask questions or get a free estimate by calling us at 763-274-0925.
