

Art Basel/Miami Art Week party guide

Justin Martin will appear Dec. 3 at the Dirtybird Barbecue. (Dirtybird / SouthFlorida.com)

By Talia J. Medina - Contact Reporter
Staff writer

NOVEMBER 23, 2016, 5:34 PM

From world-renowned artists and one-of-a-kind works to countless cocktails and dancing at discotheques, there's no denying Art Basel is one heck of a party. The international art week returns to Miami Beach Dec. 1-4, and all Magic City will be packed with pop-ups and aesthetes.

This party guide is geared toward music fans, those who use Art Basel an excuse to visit the Wynwood Walls but are more excited when the sun goes down and the disco ball goes up. There are a few daytime parties, such as Dirtybird barbecue and YogArt Basel, but all will get you grooving and moving.

YogArt Basel (10 a.m. Saturday, Dec. 3 and Sunday, Dec. 4 at the Sacred Space Miami, 105 NE 24th St., Miami)

Unwind from the grind at YogaArt Basel, a two-day event at the Sacred Space Miami. Miami-based yoga instructors Dawn B, Paul Toliuszis and Terri Cooper will lead two 10 a.m. yoga sessions. DJ Drez combines hip-hop, reggae and Indian raga while Marti Nikko adds her seductive vocals for a transformative, melodic journey. Proceeds from YogArt support Design and Architecture High School, a local magnet school. Tickets are available online or onsite.

Tickets cost $35 and can be purchased on Eventbrite.